Remarks: I purchased the property last winter and upon making an inspection of same I found ditches and cross ditches approximately two feet in depth cut from the spring to collect and carry the water to the adjoining property on the North. Since the Water Master here has no records of any filings, and since the definition of a well defined or drain channel may be construed differently I thought it best to make the application and avoid future troubles or litigation with my neighbors. However it is my judgement that the water cannot be construed as belonging to the public.
