Remarks: The point of diversion is located on property belonging to Dell M. Tedrow and Lois V. Tedrow, husband and wife, and a deed is being executed by them conveying "the right at any and all times hereafter to cause by the erection of dams or other works the water of Crouch Creek, a tributary of the Alsea River to flow back upon and be withdrawn from grantor's land in Lincoln County, Oregon, at a diversion point located N. 12° 50' 630 feet from a general land office disk set as a witness corner to the meander corner and being south 89° 58' east, 1204.75 feet from the northwest corner of Section 33, T. 13 S. R. 10 W. W.M.; together with all of the rights, easements, privileges and appurtenances in and to said lands, which will be required or needed for the full enjoyment of the right of backing and flowage and diversion of said water."

This diversion has been going on voluntarily for the past three years by three property owners.

Crouch Creek Water Association is a voluntary association of property owners along the Alsea River and it is intended that the water rights shall go with the property.
