Bev Hayes reported that SB 240, the hydroelectric bill, moved on its way through both floors, finally passing the House floor last Friday.

The state climatologist bill (SB 661) moved out and passed both houses on Sunday. SB 1147, a bill that proposed a joint venture between WRD, the Health Department and the Economic Development Department on drinking water, passed.

SB 1163 was in the House Rules committee last week and ended its life there. On Friday, some elements were attempted to be brought out of the bill, but nothing got out of committee. It will probably be revisited next session or during the interim.
