RULE SUMMARY

A reservation of water for future economic development sets aside a quantity of water for storage to meet future needs. The rules establishing the Malheur Basin reservations of water are set to expire on January 7, 2017, unless extended by rule by the Water Resources Commission. This rule would extend reservations of water for future economic development for the three Malheur Reservations of the Malheur Basin for an additional 20 years, and changes reporting requirements. Without these rules, the Malheur Basin reservations will expire. In addition, the rules include expansion of classified uses to clarify that the allowable uses include agricultural, commercial, and flow augmentation for instream use, and to address inconsistencies in terminology.

The Agency requests public comment on whether other options should be considered for achieving the rule's substantive goals while reducing negative economic impact of the rule on business.
